Sign Pact Pledging Army

Paris (AP)—Statesmen of the West signed yesterday a series of historic agreements cementing free Europe's defense and solemnly warning the Communist world to keep hands off.

In a day of momentous events, the representatives of 15 nations signed a series of treaties and protocols linking the full power of the North Atlantic alliance with a European army, including West Germany, and pledging the combined might of the West to fight if any one nation should be attacked.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson hailed the signing as "one of the most important and far-reaching events of our lifetime." Six Western European nations signed a pact committing them to build a million-man army under unified command. The United States, Britain and France issued a portentous declaration in support.

The Big Three warned the Soviet Union that any attack on any part of free Europe—including Berlin or West Germany—would be received as a threat to the security of the Big Three.

The Communists obviously were gathering strength throughout Western Europe for the assault against this grand alliance. Germany was their main concern and Berlin the key spot.

The Reds of East Germany, backed by Soviet power, struck in support of threats they made when the West German peace pact was signed in Bonn Monday. They cut telephone communications between East and West Berlin and interrupted long distance lines between West Berlin and West Germany.

They ordered all Germans to get special permits before trying to visit any point inside East Germany, effective June 1. They made menacing gestures raising the specter of a new Berlin blockade like the one of 1948-49, which was broken by the Allied airlift.

All these moves obviously were curtain-raiser for things to come in the Communist fight against the peace contract which, on ratification, will place flourishing West Germany in the community defense effort of free Europe.

Senate Beats New Move To Cut Aid Bill

Washington (AP)—Democratic leaders in the Senate staved off a new cut of a billion dollars in the Foreign Aid Bill yesterday, but face a tough fight today to defeat a half billion dollar reduction.

President Truman recommended a $7,900,000,000 bill to strengthen foreign nations against Communism in the year starting July 1, 1952. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee decided that $6,900,000,000 was enough, and reduced the measure to that amount.

Sen. Welker (R-Ia.) and 10 other Republicans called for another billion dollar slash, which would have chopped the mutual security program down to $5,900,000,000. They were defeated 35 to 27 on a rollcall vote.

Defeated in that, Welker and his associates are sponsoring a proposal for a cut of a half billion, which may draw significantly more support when it is voted on today.

Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.), one of the leaders of the Eisenhower-for-President movement, said yesterday he will vote to cut 500 million from the bill. He voted against the billion dollar cut.

Carlson's statement to a reporter aroused special interest because Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, retiring chief of the North Atlantic Treaty forces, has said, with reservations, that any further substantial reductions in the Foreign Aid Bill might threaten American security.

Women Pledge To Fight Inflation

Harrisburg (AP)—The Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs last night pledged itself to fight inflation "in every possible way."

The 1,500 delegates to the three-day convention unanimously passed a resolution to:

"Practice economy and thrift at all times; buy only such articles as are of absolute need; urge elected officials to end all unnecessary spending and waste in government; reduce expenditures both within the home and government and to support increased production to satisfy the demands of military preparedness and the wants of the population."

Allow Double Holiday

Washington (AP)—The Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) told employers yesterday they may give Saturday, May 31, and Saturday, July 5, as holidays with pay to all employees who normally work on Saturdays.

Ike Gains; Fists Fly In Texas

By The Associated Press
Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower pulled within 20 votes of Sen. Robert A. Taft in the contest for Republican presidential nominating delegates yesterday by grabbing at least 20 of Connecticut's 22 ballots.

In Texas, meanwhile, bitter divisions within both Republican and Democratic parties erupted in disorder and convention walkouts that will send contesting delegations to the Chicago conventions in July.

On the Texas Republican side Taft supporters took over the convention at Mineral Wells and named 38 uninstructed delegates of whom 35 favor Taft and three are for Eisenhower.

Most Eisenhower supporters, however, walked out yelling protests when the convention seated Taft delegates from many parts of the state, and held their own meeting. They named 33 uninstructed delegates known to back the general and five who are definitely instructed for Taft.

At San Antonio the State Democratic Convention led by Gov. Allan Shivers named uninstructed delegates to cast the state's 52 convention votes. Shivers, a bitter critic of the Truman administration, favors Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia for the Democratic nomination.

Fists flew as "Loyal Democrats" pulled out of the San Antonio session to name their own uninstructed slate. Many of the leaders in that group favor Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas and others like Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

In Florida the first and probably unrepresentative returns from a Democratic primary gave Kefauver a lead in 13 races for delegates to Chicago. Russell, who won a plurality of $2,600 votes in a popularity primary there earlier in the month, was ahead for nine places. There were 24 votes to be decided but the remaining two races had not been heard from.

Kefauver had a lead for seven of the eight delegate-at-large seats. The bulk of the early vote was from Dade County, Miami, a Kefauver stronghold.

Americans Sure To Win Peace, HST Tells Church

New York (AP)—President Truman said yesterday that Americans "with faith in God and trust in our fellow man" are sure to win permanent peace.

In a message to the 164th annual General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the USA, he said:

"The religious feeling of the American people is one of our strengths of national strength—a strength we are now mobilizing together with the other free peoples of the world in defense of our cherished ideals of liberty and justice."

Exports Doubled

Dublin, Ireland (AP)—Ireland's exports to the U. S. during the first quarter of this year were $2,942,800—more than double those for the same period in 1951, the government said last night.

MADE FROM AN elevation outside Compound 76 on Kojima Island, this photo shows rebellious Red prisoners of war massed before barracks in the background. In foreground is one of the defiant signs posted by the captives. It reads: "Boatner! Declare openly what is held in the negotiation with Dodd!"

TED HOFFMAN WENT THROUGH this formality 17 times before and beams broadly as he prepares to give his 18th pint of blood. The contribution was made yesterday afternoon at the Elks Home to the American Red Cross mobile unit stationed there. Witnessing Hoffman's voluntary effort are Mrs. Henry Tucker, Mrs. W. L. Kraemer and Mrs. Harold Leininger, all volunteer workers seated left to right. (Daily Record Photo)

Exalted Ruler Sets Good Example For Other Elks By Contributing 18th Pint Of Blood

There's no limit to how much blood a human can give—provided, of course, he waits the required eight weeks before contributing again and possesses the physical stamina demanded.

Theodore Hoffman has it. Ted, as he is known generally, gave his 18th pint yesterday, joining the scores of other volunteers who reported to the Elks Home in East Stroudsburg.

According to medical records there are from seven to eight pints of blood in a human's body, depending on the weight of the individual. Hardy as he is, Ted Hoffman's 218-pound frame has been working steadily, at that rate, since the six-foot one-inch Coast Guard veteran made his first contribution back in 1939.

The "tow headed Dutchman," as he referred to himself, was punctual in keeping his 2:30 p.m. appointment yesterday. After the formalities of weighing in, recording temperature and blood pressure and answering the lengthy list of questions concerning his physical condition and past illnesses, Ted moved to the table set up on the first floor of the building and nonchalantly gave another pint.

A third generation exalted ruler of the Elks, his father and grandfather preceding him over the past 50 years as leaders of the BPOE, Ted's effort yesterday was for the Elks campaign which to date has resulted in about 439 pints. The drive is on a national level since all Elks lodges have been urged to gain volunteers. All blood contributions are earmarked for the fighting forces in Korea.

A Marshalls Creek resident, Ted recalled his first pint was given "to some friend at the hospital" in 1939.

Entering the service in 1941 as an apprentice seaman, Hoffman spent three years in the Aleutian area and it was in Alaska that his most unusual contribution was made.

"An Indian girl needed blood badly," Ted remembered, "and a call was sent out to our station. She was in a Catholic hospital and just given birth to a child."

During the period of duty with the Coast Guard Ted said he gave five other times. And after discharge in June, 1946 he contributed twice at the local hospital. His donation yesterday marked the ninth pint to the Elks drive since March, 1950.

How many more pints do you expect to give? Who knows, was the answer—an indication that Ted Hoffman will keep right on giving blood as long as they'll have him. And to date he's never been refused once.

Washington (AP)—James P. McGranery took over as attorney general yesterday, promising a government cleanup campaign but turning thumbs down on financial questionnaires.

It was the questionnaires, probing deeply into the money affairs of federal employees, which brought about Newbold Morris' downfall as cleanup chief last April 3. Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath fired Morris and then was ousted himself by President Truman.

The new attorney general disposed of the issue by telling reporters that he did not feel the questionnaires were of any value. He said persons applying for jobs with the government are carefully investigated, and that that was the proper time to get any desired information.

But there will be a housecleaning, McGranery said, and wrongdoers will be prosecuted wherever they are found.

GOP Farm Bloc Proposes Plank

Washington (AP)—Republican farm leaders in the House yesterday proposed an agricultural plank for their party calling for a "farm modernization program" to boost production, income and living standards of every farm family.

The suggested plank also would reaffirm the party's belief in parity for agriculture. It also would pledge greater support to farm research and education, farm cooperatives, an improved soil conservation program and a broader system of credits for small farmers.

Allotments Increased
Washington (AP)—The government yesterday substantially boosted metal allotments for production of television and radio sets, dishwashers, refrigerators, electric fans, home appliances and other civilian goods. The increases are effective during the third quarter of the year.

Van Fleet, Rhee Talk Over Crisis

Pusan, Korea, (AP)—A deepening political crisis in South Korea prompted secret conferences yesterday between President Syngman Rhee, Gen. James A. Van Fleet and top diplomatic officials.

Results of the sessions were not disclosed. A source close to the United Nations Commission for the Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea said members expressed "deep concern" about the situation.

Van Fleet, U. S. Eighth Army Commander, flew down from his Seoul headquarters.

In a statement earlier Rhee said he declared martial law Saturday because of (A) the killing of five American soldiers in a guerrilla ambush Friday and (B) increasing public political demonstrations.

About 30 guerrillas fired without warning on a small U. S. Army camp in a gravel pit at Tonghae, about eight miles north of Pusan. In addition to the Americans slain, a Korean house boy was killed and two Americans wounded. Survivors said it was a raid to obtain guns.

In Pusan, public demonstrations have erupted sporadically since the Republic of Korea Assembly voted to disavow charges against one of its members accused of shooting a South Korean Army captain.

"Murder has been committed with impunity," said Rhee, "and the public feeling has been rising in indignation against those recalcitrant, irresponsible members of the National Assembly."

"Far-reaching Communist connections have been uncovered and the authorities are taking steps to make a thorough investigation of the case."

The top-truce teams reconvened Tuesday after a three-day recess. Even before the Allied delegation took their seats in the dusty, weather-bleached tent, North Korean Gen. Nam Il said angrily:

"The Korean Peoples Army and the Chinese Peoples Volunteers decided cannot sit by while seeing their captured fellow combatants being slaughtered by your side at will."

It was a reference to Communist charges of maltreatment of Red prisoners—a charge constantly repeated at Panmunjom and by Red propaganda broadcasts—but this time it was much stronger.

A Peiping broadcast heard by The Associated Press in San Francisco said if the Allies refuse to yield on the prisoner issue "the alternative is continued war with American responsibility nakedly exposed to the world."

Four Men Lost In Plane Crash
Port Angeles, Wash., (AP)—A Coast Guard flying boat crashed on a takeoff here yesterday and four men were lost as it broke apart.

The Coast Guard announcement of the crash said the four apparently were carried down with the main part of the plane.

Twelve were aboard the PBM plane on the takeoff for a flight to Prince Rupert, B. C.

Two survivors were reported injured seriously; five received minor injuries and one was uninjured.

Washington (AP)—Premier Alcide de Gasperi's Democratic forces retained control of Rome and assorted provincial capitals, but election tides swept six key southern cities into the hands of a Fascist-Monarchist combine yesterday.

Pressed hard by the Communist-led left and the Fascist-Monarchist right, the Christian Democrats and their middle-ground allies appeared holding firmly to a majority of the 2,400 municipalities which chose new councils yesterday and Monday.

Washington (AP)—More married women are holding jobs outside the home than ever before.

The Census Bureau reported yesterday that in April last year, almost 27 per cent of all married women had jobs. The previous record was 25 1/2 per cent in 1944, at the height of World War Two.

Almost half the young mothers 20 to 24 years old, with children of school age only, were working. The bureau called the trend "striking." Officials said the figures probably would be even higher today, although no formal survey has been made this year.

Numerically, there were 10,200,000 working married women last year, compared with 8,400,000 in 1944 and about seven million in 1946.

Reds Sever Phone Lines, Establish No Man's Land

Berlin (AP)—The Communist East German government yesterday told Red secret police they could shoot to kill anyone found without proper authorization in a newly-created no-man's-land at the tense West German border.

Creation of the three-mile-wide zone was one in a series of retaliatory moves aimed at West Germany for signing a separate peace contract with Britain, France and the U. S.

East Germany also cut off all telephone service between West Berlin and the Russian sector and some long distance lines to West Germany. It adopted a new formula for transit visas which could strangle traffic between West Berlin and the Bonn republic.

With these steps East Germany has created machinery which requires only a little tightening to blockade Berlin.

A senior Allied official said: "They have now arranged things so that we have the alternative of slowly watching West Berlin wither away, put the entire place on the dole relief, or start up an airlift as was done in 1948-49 to break the blockade. If they claim the skies above their heads too, that's it."

In Paris, the Big Three Western powers said they would regard aggression against Berlin as a threat to their own security.

The new visa formula requires all Germans to get an East German permit before setting foot on East German soil. There are 100 miles of this soil between Berlin and the West.

Until now an agreement between the Western powers and Russia had allowed West Berlin and West German authorities to issue international passes for transit travel through the Russian zone in either direction.

The potentialities of the move were clear:

1.—Every truck driver, railroad employee or canal barge operator traveling through the area would be at East Germany's mercy.

2.—The 2,200,000 West Berliners will be virtually sealed off from travel into or through the Soviet zone which surrounds the city.

The series of steps, with every sign that there were more to come, appeared to be based on Communist reasoning that signing of the peace contract torpedoed the Potsdam agreement of 1945 which set up the rights West Berlin enjoyed in its relations with the West.

Platoons of workmen with power tools started digging trenches to create barriers at various points along the 400-mile border from Luebeck on the Baltic to Hof in Bavaria.

The ditch-digging brigades on the Soviet side of the zonal border beyond the Elbe River lent a serious touch to the growing conviction the Reds regard the national split as final.

Only those living in the neighborhood may come within 500 yards. Without proper papers, no one is allowed within three miles of the line.

Record Number Of Women Hold Outside Jobs

Gov. Fine and The Parkway

We like the way Gov. John S. Fine met the issue head-on Monday when he talked with a Northeastern Pennsylvania Committee seeking his blessing of the Pocono Mountains Memorial Parkway.

Said the Governor, when an offer was made to read a list of organizations which have endorsed the 80-mile scenic toll parkway:

"Don't bother with that. It wouldn't mean a thing. If the parkway is sound and economical I'd be for it. If not, I would be against it no matter how many are for it."

That is the meat of the whole issue. It must be sound and economical. If it isn't, we can't think of a soul who wants it.

Members of the committee who met with Gov. Fine, and most people in this region will admit to the many exceptional values which can be derived from a scenic parkway drive ranging across the topmost ridges of the Poconos.

But, the committee should get at the economics of the parkway promptly and place them before Gov. Fine. If they can prove it is sound and economical, then the Governor must act. He has placed himself on record to do just that.

Ladies First

Republicans up in the State of Maine reportedly are shaking in their political boots over what they call an underhanded trick the Democrats have pulled.

In their state convention, the Democrats elected five women as their candidates to the electoral college, which technically elects the President of the United States.

The GOP fears that the Democrats are guilty of discrimination against the men and that the Democrats may get a big share of the independent women.

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington, May 27 — The Robert Marshall Foundation since 1938 has been one of the principal sources of funds supplied by wealthy radicals for the support of Communist front organizations.

Robert Marshall's will was admitted to probate on January 12, 1940, in the Surrogate's Court of the County of New York. One half of his fortune of $1,534,070.14 was set up as a foundation to be administered by his brother George. The House Un-American Activities Committee says George Marshall's "Communist record is so clear and so voluminous that it leaves no doubt about his ideological devotion to the Soviet Union." Other trustees of the foundation also are men with known Communist front associations.

Robert Marshall was a high official of the Department of Interior at the time of his death. He inherited his fortune from his father, Louis Marshall, a distinguished lawyer and partner in the well-known New York firm of Guggenheimer, Untermyer and Marshall.

George Marshall and Mary Dublin Keyserling, wife of the chairman of the President's council of economic advisers, are jointly associated with a number of Red fronts. As related to you yesterday, Mrs. Keyserling is employed by the Department of Commerce.

Thomas C. Blaisdell, Jr., a former Assistant Secretary of Commerce, was Mrs. Keyserling's boss. Blaisdell's wife and his father, T. C. Blaisdell, Sr., were witnesses to the signing of Robert Marshall's will. The younger Blaisdell has been an associate of Leon Keyserling since 1933, when they joined in producing a book entitled, "Redirecting Education."

Thomas C. Blaisdell, Jr. also is the man who employed William Remington in the Department of Commerce. Remington was convicted of lying about his Communist affiliations, but was granted a retrial.

With this further background we can continue the story of Mary Dublin Keyserling. Her husband Leon denied that she ever belonged to a Communist front or engaged in Communist sponsored activities. I started to show yesterday that he doesn't know what he is talking about or is not telling the truth.

I have named two of Mrs. Keyserling's Red front affiliations. Here are some more.

It is most probable, however, that the Republicans are merely suffering from a minor case of campaign jitters.

In the first place, Maine has voted for only one Democrat for President since the Civil War. That stray from the path was in 1912 when the GOP had two candidates in the field.

And in the second, and most important, place, we doubt that many women are going to rush to the polls for another woman just because she is a woman. Politics or no politics, women like men better than women, bless 'em.

The Generous Gesture

The President has now made it clear that he recognizes no authority—neither Congress nor the courts—when it comes to a national emergency. He said he has the inherent power to seize private industry whenever a situation of emergency proportions arises. Generously, he agreed that he would abide by the Supreme Court decision in the steel case.

We believe the President is on unsound ground when he asserts that he has the power—which nobody can take away—to seize industry as an answer to labor disputes. The President is just assuming powers he does not have, and should not have.

If he did have such powers, he would be in a position to settle all labor disputes that came under the head of emergency situations. They could make their own emergencies.

The President would do better to await the ruling of the High Court, rather than glibly discussing what he believes to be powers without restraint. The Constitution spells out the President's powers in peace time and in time of war or great emergency.

My New York

—By Mel Heimer

New York—It was quite reassuring, on once more coming across the Young Thing With Bangs after these many moons, to discover the city had made no appreciable inroads on her vibrant personality. She was as sparkling as the day she arrived, ready to plunge knee-deep into the life-stream of Manhattan and Live, do you hear, Live.

"Isn't it absolutely the most wonderful thing—the most wonderful to be alive in New York in the spring?" she exclaimed breathlessly as she slid into the seat opposite me and told the waiter to bring her a duobonnet cocktail. Her cape billowed gracefully around her shoulders, she wore a silk scarf with careless grandeur around her neck and she still clutched the ledger in which she wrote of her adventures in Gotham.

I said I was happy enough with Spring in New York, and asked her what she was doing. "I'm so thrilled," she said excitedly. "I'm taking lessons in folk singing. You know, I've never really lived before!" I inquired politely what kind of folk songs she was learning.

"Oh, you know... just folk songs," she said, a bit vaguely. Black is the Color of My True Love's Hair and The Blue Tail Fly and Barbara Allen and all those. You must know folk songs, don't you? I mean, everyone who's anyone in New York these days is terribly expert on folk songs and folk singers."

I told her I used to accompany myself on the ukulele years ago on an old folk tune called When the Mush Begins to Rush Down Father's Vest, but we both tried to figure what kind of folks sang that folk song and couldn't place it.

"I play the zither," she said proudly. "And sit on a stool as you play?" I asked.

"Why, yes," she said, almost crestfallen. "How did you know?" "It figured," I said borrowing temporarily from my Lindy's vocabulary.

I asked the Y. T. W. B. how her romantic life was going in Manhattan. "I have a new man," she said. "And do you know—he sings Serbian songs. We met at a folk-music festival in a hall on 86th street in Yorkville."

"And what does he accompany himself on?" I asked with interest.

"The triangle," she said. "Sometimes, he does duets—and it's so Elizabethan! Oh, you've no idea!" "Why do you suppose," I said, "that there's such an interest in folk songs in New York just now? Every little Village saloon has somebody who plays the mandolin and sings Molly Malone. It's getting so you can't just go and hear somebody sing or play some good Cole Porter or Larry Hart stuff."

"It's the only true music," the Y. T. W. B. said gravely, "and besides, it lends an air of gracious living to New York. Like pepper mills." I let that go by, although I am a man who gets highly annoyed at the use of pepper mills, which strike my dark mind as being affected, and I asked her if she was writing all about folk music in her ledger.

"Every day," she said. I reached for it, but she tucked it swiftly under her arm and looked ethereally at the ceiling.

"The words in this ledger," she said, "are sacred. Some day they will be published, but until then I don't let anyone see them. I have the title already: Girl Alone in the Uncharted Wastelands."

"Do you still love New York as much as when you came here?" I inquired. "I mean, don't you long for a green tree or a lawn, or Saturday night at a country club dance?"

"Oh, yes," she said, making a

These Days -- By George E. Sokolsky

The Grass Roots Clubs

One of the most stirring phenomena of the moment is the rise of what might be termed the grass roots organizations throughout this country. They are springing up in every state, and circulars about them are coming in every mail. Some are, of course, "only efforts at individual activity; others are genuine expressions of revolt against the stolidness of both parties."

I have already written of the Liberty Belles, the organization, founded by Vivien Kellems, which is spreading like a prairie fire in some parts of the country. It is a vital organization of active women who were aroused to moral indignation by taxation and corruption. Already in states like Texas and California these women are politically important, although they still avoid partisanship.

Another such group in the process of widespread organization is the Freedom Clubs founded by Dr. James W. Fife, Jr., a Congressional minister of Los Angeles. Their object is to stimulate an interest in an "aggressive Americanism" at home. While such a term may be ambiguous, the credo of the Freedom Clubs makes their position clear: "I Believe "In freedom under God—that man has certain inalienable rights and that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

"In the dignity and importance of man—that the State should be the servant, not the master, of its individual citizens."

"In the American principle that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of individual liberty it is the right of the people to alter it."

"In the Bill of Rights and the freedoms it guarantees under the Constitution of the United States."

"In the economic principle of free enterprise and the ownership of private property."

At first, this organization had rough sledding because as soon as clubs were organized, they were being infiltrated from both the right and the left. In some respects, the extreme right offered a greater peril because they could accept, in their own minds, the credo of the "Freedom Clubs," they added certain hates, particularly racial and religious, which were intolerable to the founders and members generally. This weakness has, I understand, been cured and the Freedom Clubs are again pushing forward.

These movements represent a popular dissatisfaction not only with the political parties but also with the apathy of so large a part of the population. Whatever popularity they develop will be a response to the challenge of an America that has gone defensive, that has become even ashamed of patriotism.

In this connection, I have had an astonishing experience. Proposing in a recent article that this Fourth of July be employed to restore the flying of the American flag from every household, I have received an enormous responsive mail, not only saying that it will be done, but suggesting all sorts of plans for community action. I am informed by John R. O'Brien, national commander of the Marine Corps League, that his organization will launch a nationwide drive to urge wider display of the flag on all American holidays.

It is impossible to write about all organizations of this type, but they are very numerous and their purposes expose the real sentiments of the people, which may be judged, from the various programs, to be:

1. Patriotism is not to be confused with such smear words as Fascism or isolationism. An American wants to be a patriot. He wants to display, exhibit, express his love of country;

2. In our type of society, public emotions will be publicly expressed, in groups, societies, in clubs, in forums. The "old cracker barrel" attitude still exists in the desire for sitting around and discussing problems. For a while, it looked as though an intellectual elite had mastered the minds of our people, but the grass-roots are asserting themselves in an anti-eliteism. In the normal American concept that one man's opinion is as good as another's.

That is perhaps an explanation of Harry Truman's 1948 victory. But this year, corruption, subversion and internationalism, accompanied by high taxes, high prices and the killing of Americans in undefined wars, must be discussed. Harry Truman is smart enough to understand that 1952 is not 1948 for him, because the grass-roots have turned on his concepts of American life. It is not surprising that he made his best speech before the Socialists. He felt at home among them. But most Americans do not feel at home among Socialists.

Try And Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

It's George Jessel's fancy that a slick agent from Hollywood found Adolf Hitler alive and kicking in a hideout near the Mexican border, signed him to a personal contract, and then tried to interest a major studio in hiring him as a freak attraction. "Aren't you ashamed?" admonished the studio head. "This monster is responsible for millions of lives, ruined Europe, and re-awakened prejudices that will haunt the world for generations to come—and still you want to hire him!" The agent hung his head and conceded, "So he made a small mistake..."

Hollywood

—by Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—Bret Harte's simple little tale, "The Outcasts of Poker Flat," has been souped up into a fairly hair-raising movie by the addition of two characters. These are long-suffering Cal (Anne Baxter) and her no-good, thieving husband Ryker (Cameron Mitchell).

While Harte was content to have his exiles languish and finally die in a snow-blanketed cabin, 20th Century-Fox scripter Edmund H. North has most of his protagonists live much more excitingly than Harte's hymn-singing and accordion-playing characters.

Ryker has robbed the assay office with Cal's unwilling help. He thrusts the loot upon her before fleeing.

The indignant town casts out Cal along with gambler John Oakhurst (Dale Robertson), a fancy lady known as the Duchess (Miriam Hopkins), and an old souse (Billy Lynn). They take refuge from a snowstorm in a cabin along with a couple who are on their way to Poker Flat to get married (Craig Hill and Barbara Bates).

The fugitive Ryker shows up and holds the pilgrims captive, terrorizing them with his pistol. Oakhurst's calm competence and Ryker's villainy are played nicely. It's an interesting switch for Mitchell after his role as likable Happy Loman in "Death of a Salesman." And Miss Baxter, cuffed, slapped, and raped by her bestial husband, suffers handsomely.

Loretta Young suffers more gently in "Paula." Leaving a doctor's office, where she has just learned she can never bear a child, she strikes a youngster with her car.

A passing trucker (Will Wright) whisks the lad off to a

Facts About Race Fans

"The average attendant at a race track is married, goes to the races once a year and is between 26 and 57 years of age," says a legislative committee report on horse racing. This calls for a correction. He is 26 to 57 years of age on the way to the track, 18 to 30 before the first race, 35 to 64 after the second and some, where between 80 and 100 as he makes for the train after the final heat. He is not only married but has three newswounds, at least one racing paper and the pencil industry to support. Let us pursue the matter:

He shaves hastily, always missing most of the left cheek, needs a neck-trim and has corns on the inside of the right thumb from gripping the pencil. He has runover heels. His tastes in what the well-dressed racegoer should wear are erratic. In and under the grandstand he is somewhat restrained in his style, but in the clubhouse anything goes.

He is furtive in the extreme and often goes behind a pillar to talk to himself. He has mustard on the left sleeve, printing ink on his fingers and a limp from stepping on empty bottles. He carries two newspapers, one racing sheet and clippings from four sport pages. He always finds he has lost the clipping he depended on to win the fourth race. He seldom throws anything away. This results in some confusion due to the fact he digs into his pocket on Wednesday and comes up with Monday's clippings. (He doesn't discover this error until Thursday.)

He buys at least two toilet cards, swearing by them on one day but swearing OFF them the hospital, muttering about drunken women drivers. The doctor has given Loretta a shot of whisky to steady her, but she's not really tight.

Her professor husband (Kent Smith) has just been appointed dean. Scandal would hurt him. So she suffers in silence and takes the injured boy into her home. But when he recognizes her finally as the driver who hit him, it looks as if he'll send her to jail.

All this material fits a little too neatly into place, but Miss Young's acting gives it luster. Nine-year-old Tommy Rettig is appealing as the boy. Alexander Knox plays the couple's doctor friend.

Cancer Drive Topped Goal By $142.74

The Monroe County "cancer crusade" collected $142.74 more than its quota of $4,000 for the 1952 campaign, it was announced last night at a meeting of the board of directors.

Dr. Claus G. Jordan, president of the Monroe County Branch of the American Cancer Society, expressed his thanks to Detlef Hansen who served as chairman of this year's drive.

Dr. Jordan also expressed gratitude to the many volunteer workers and the thousands of individuals and business firms who contributed to the 1952 Cancer crusade. The board of directors' meeting was held at headquarters, 615 Sarah St., Stroudsburg.

Belgian Engineer Tells Rotary Of Situation In West Europe

Mount Pocono—The general political and economic situation in Western Europe was the discussion topic at Monday night's meeting of the Rotary Club in the Methodist Church here.

Principal speaker for the dinner was Andre DeGuee, a consulting engineer for the Frank Foundation Co. of Liege, Belgium who is currently working on the Tobihana Signal Depot construction.

DeGuee, who has been in the U. S. less than 10 weeks, gave his personal impressions of the post-war reconstruction in Europe and his own native land.

Speaking in a purely informal manner, DeGuee touched on the German occupations during World Wars One and Two.

By comparison, he said, the Germans were much "cleverer" in the Second War than they had been in the first. In the first occupation, he pointed out, the soldiers confiscated those things which they wanted, illegally and by whatever means they could get them. During World War Two, however, the Germans printed Belgian currency and "purchased" those things which they wanted. This resulted in inflation and the eventual devaluation of the currency.

In response to questions from the audience, DeGuee stated the Germans had destroyed "no industry during the war." Industrial conditions now, in Belgium, he said, are "very good."

Taxes and other levies against income and purchases are at the highest level since the country achieved its sovereignty, however, he said.

The principal concern of the Belgian people DeGuee characterized as "a fear of Russia" without knowing the Russian people and a constant "fear of war" between that country and the U.S.

The Belgians, he continued, are "positive Russia cannot win a war against the U.S." but they fear that "Russia might invade Belgium before the U.S. could stop her attack."

The speaker discounted reports that the Communists are "strong" in either Belgium or Holland. In the former country, he said, the party is small enough to be nearly powerless. In Holland, he declared, the Communist party is practically nonexistent.

Politics play an important part in the daily life of most citizens of his country, DeGuee said. Nearly everyone is a member of one political party and, as a part of that membership, adheres strictly to the policies of the unit.

DeGuee described the Belgian at-a contest sponsored by the American Legion.

Lesoine, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph K. Lesoine, 31 Washington St., East Stroudsburg, was originally the second place winner in the contest.

A Nesquehoning senior who had won first prize in the three-county competition notified judges this week that she had received another scholarship offer which she considered more to her benefit.

Lesoine, therefore, became eligible for the first prize award. The student entered the contest along with several others from Mrs. Kathleen Butz' senior English class in the local borough high school.

Presentation of the scholarship will be made at East Stroudsburg's commencement exercises June 5 at 8 p. m. in the Senior High School auditorium.

Senator Crowe will make the award personally to Lesoine during the ceremonies.

100 Pints Of Blood Donated To Red Cross

One hundred pints of blood were contributed to the American Red Cross regional blood bank yesterday at the Elks home in East Stroudsburg.

Sponsored by the Elks lodge, the donor campaign won sound support from members and residents of the region.

It represented an effort by the lodge to clear up its pledge of providing at least 500 pints of blood.

Leroy Mikes, American Red Cross blood donor chairman here, said officials of the central blood bank at Wilkes-Barre had urged an all-out effort here.

They based the urgency, not only on the armed services requirements, but on the possibility of heavy civilian demands resulting from accidents over the Memorial Day holiday.

Yesterday's blood bank operated from 1 p. m. to 7 p. m. to allow persons with daytime employment to report. Usually, the bloodmobile is here from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Club Maps Activities

The Stroudsburg Lions Club held its regular dinner meeting last night in the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Plans were made to attend the "all-organization" meeting at Tammington June 10.

Announcement was made by Lion President T. Manning Curtis that the Stroudsburg club will visit the Milford Lions next Tuesday, June 3.

Following the dinner, a group of Lions presented a "moralistic" melodrama entitled "Ten Bars In One Night"—a musical parody on the noted temperance classic "Ten Nights In A Barroom."

The program was written, produced and directed by William P. Deering.

McGranery Tenth Pennsylvanian To Serve As Attorney General; A. Mitchell Palmer Eighth

James P. McGranery, 56-year-old Philadelphia, yesterday became the attorney general of the United States. The Associated Press noted Mr. McGranery is the 10th Pennsylvanian to serve in that high post.

A. Mitchell Palmer, Stroudsburg, was the eighth Pennsylvanian to serve as attorney general of the United States. Mr. Palmer served under Woodrow Wilson.

Prior to his appointment by Wilson, Mr. Palmer served as alien property custodian during the World War One period, holding in custody property of the German nation.

Locally, he was an accomplished lawyer. He was senior member of the law firm of Palmer and Bensinger, his partner being C. Raymond Bensinger of East Stroudsburg.

When he entered politics actively in 1908, Mr. Palmer purchased The Daily Times, one of the predecessors of The Daily Record. He was also affiliated with the Stroudsburg National Bank, later by merger, the First-Stroudsburg National Bank.

After his tour of duty as attorney general, Mr. Palmer practiced law in Washington, D. C. as a member of the firm of Palmer, Davis, Scott and Stellwagon.

His residence here was at 712 Scott St., now the home of Gerald P. O'Neill, owner of the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

The earliest Pennsylvanian to serve as attorney general was William Bradford, who served from Jan. 27, 1794 to Aug. 23, 1795 in the administration of George Washington.

Most recent was Francis Biddle, who served under Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Others who served were Richard Rush under James Madison, Henry D. Gilpin under Martin Van Buren, Jeremiah S. Black under James Buchanan, Wayne Macveagh under James A. Garfield, Benjamin H. Brewster under Chester A. Arthur, Philander C. Knox under William McKinley, then Mr. Palmer under Wilson and Mr. Biddle under Roosevelt.

Major Industries Use Local Inventor's Device To Measure Surface Tension Of Liquids

A Stroudsburg scientist has invented a simple device for measuring the surface tensions of liquids. He is Joseph B. Kushner, 115 Broad St., a consulting electro-chemist.

Already the device he thought up has gone out to hundreds of major U. S. firms—such as Westinghouse, General Electric, DuPont, Caterpillar Tractor, Monsanto Chemical, Eastman Kodak, Bendix Aviation—and to the armed forces and a number of universities.

Response to Kushner's measuring device has been prompt and extensive, for it filled an industrial need not previously met.

Surface tension is what enables a duck to float on water instead of sinking... what permits the trick of floating a razor blade on water.

It is a property, due to molecular forces, which exists in the surface film of all liquids. In many industries, such as the electroplating field, it is necessary to measure the degree of surface tension.

Until the 43-year-old Stroudsburg scientist evolved his device, this measuring was done by the use of such things as capillary tubes—glass tubes with a very fine, hair-like hollow column.

When the end of the open tube was immersed in a liquid, the liquid would climb up the fine column. How high it went depended on the surface tension of the liquid.

However, it was difficult to clean the tube out again—and if it was not cleaned properly, an accurate measurement could not be made.

A little less than a year ago, however, he's not quite sure—Kushner got the idea of a device highly accurate, easy to read, and which could be cleaned completely in a whisk.

It consists of two matched glass plates, each about 5 by 7 inches square. They are held together at an angle of about half a degree by a permanently-mounted stainless steel wedge and removable spring clamps.

On one plate is engraved a liquid level line. At right angles to it is engraved a graduated scale in millimeters.

If the two cleaned glass plates are held vertically in the test solution in a miniature tank, or immersed up to the level line in a vat holding some process solution to be tested, the liquid rises between the plates by capillary action in the form of a smooth curve.

The reading, at the point where the curve cuts the scale, is the measure of the liquid's surface tension.

Water, for example, cuts the scale at about 70.

A "wetter" solution—one with less surface tension—would give a lower reading.

After Kushner made his first model, an article describing the device was published in "Plating," a trade magazine in the electroplating field.

The response and interest pyramided rapidly. Kushner now has the measuring device—known as the "Sur-ten-meter"—made up for him by a commercial firm. A patent is pending.

Kushner was a student at Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute and at Cooper Union in New York. He is now completing work toward his doctorate at Lehigh University.

He lived in New York—in all of the city's boroughs, at one time or another—until seven years ago. Then he and Mrs. Kushner spent two years on a Reuders farm. For the past five years they have been living at the Broad St. address, where Kushner spends a good deal of his time in his laboratory.

Although there were many censuses in the ancient world, the Middle Ages developed a prejudice against them which extended into comparatively modern times.

'Brigadoon,' Musical Comedy, To Be Given At Unity House

Bushkill—A precedent is being shattered this week along the resort circuit. For the first time in the history of the circuit, a musical comedy hit is scheduled to play the Unity House in Forest Park, near here.

The musical-fantasy "Brigadoon" which played to capacity audiences on Broadway for nearly two years, will be given for one performance only Saturday night, May 31 at the local resort maintained by the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union.

When it opened on Broadway, "Brigadoon" was honored by the New York Critics Circle as the "best musical of the year".

It was also included in John Chapman's selection of the "Ten Best Plays of the Year".

Combining fantasy and comedy, "Brigadoon" is the musical which tells the story of two Americans in the Scottish Highlands who find themselves living in a time nearly two centuries before.

Although few of the original cast members remain in the production, the majority have been recruited from one of the national companies.

Leo Sullivan, one of the members of the original cast, is slated to make a personal appearance during Saturday night's performance. Wade Williams will be starred in the current production.

Mountainhome—The Pocono Playhouse will open its sixth season of summer entertainment here Friday night, June 13, with Broadway's latest musical sensation "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" starring Lanny Ross.

The musical will run ten performances through Saturday night, June 21.

This is evidenced by increasing numbers of patrons who drive many miles week after week to attend plays at the modern, air-conditioned theatre.

The forthcoming season will extend through the middle of September with a different attraction presented weekly starring favorite personalities of stage and screen supported by an all professional resident company.

Productions will be under the direction of John O'Shaughnessy and Richard Bender, both of whom have served in that capacity in former seasons at the playhouse. Press relations will be handled by Dixie Lee.

Britain Urged To Build Big Planes Of Own

London, (AP)—Aircraft maker Sir Frederick Handley Page said today it would be catastrophic for Britain to build only fighter planes, leaving the United States to produce troop transports and long range bombers.

"We cannot allow an ally, no matter how closely linked we may be, to provide the force which in wartime is vital to our existence," Handley Page said in his company's annual report for 1951.

He urged the government to make it a matter of policy to develop long range jet transports by placing early orders.

Handley Page said this would encourage "maintenance of the present British lead in commercial jet transport." He was referring to the Comet, now making regular 500-mile-an-hour runs to Johannesburg and back.

Court Voids Law Granting Allowances

Harrisburg, Pa. — A 1949 law granting $1,000 a year expense allowances to sixth class county commissioners was ruled unconstitutional yesterday by the State Supreme Court.

The court issued the ruling in dismissing an appeal by three Bradford County commissioners against a county court order requiring them to return $1,500 in expense payments made to themselves in 1949.

The three commissioners, J. Lloyd Loushay, John E. Snedeker and R. G. C. Jones, each took $500 in expense payments for the last six months of 1949.

They acted under authority of a May 14, 1949 act granting sixth class county commissioners expense allowances of $1,000 a year. Prior to that time, commissioners in sixth class counties were allowed only payment of expenses actually incurred in conducting county business. Pennsylvania counties are classified on a population basis. The sixth class counties are in the 50-100,000 population category.

In upholding the Bradford County Court ruling which ordered the commissioners to return the $1,500 in expense payments, the Supreme Court held that the May 14, 1949, statute was superseded by an act passed nine days later on May 23.

"The two acts are inconsistent and irreconcilable and to that extent the intermediate act of May 14 is repealed by implication," the Supreme Court opinion stated.

Miss Bailey Wins College Scholarship

Arlene Elise Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Leroy Bailey, formerly of Passaic and Clifton, N. J., now of 103 Smith St., East Stroudsburg, has been awarded a $300 scholarship at Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., for the freshman year beginning in September, 1952. Miss Bailey is the grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bailey, formerly of Passaic. Miss Bailey is a senior at the Northfield School for Girls, where she has been a student for the past three years. Her excellent record has resulted in the recommendation of the Curriculum Committee of the Northfield Schools that she be given half of the scholarship amount from the Gertrude C. Munger Scholarship Fund at Mount Holyoke College, administered by the Northfield Committee.

The Mount Holyoke Scholarship Award Committee has congratulated Miss Bailey on receiving one of the most generous of freshman scholarships at the institution, despite keen competition.

Her father, John Leroy Bailey, is at present an assistant professor in the English Department of Jersey City State Teachers College, Jersey City. He is also assisting with the public relations program of the institution.

Five-Month Old 'Schnapsy' Completes Dog School Course

"Schnapsy" got his diploma last night—at the age of five months. He was the youngest class member ever to be graduated from the Monroe County Dog Obedience Group's YMCA classes.

He was also one of three dogs to win score honors in the class, according to Donna Billard who serves as trainer and general manager for the group.

First place winner, with a score of 195 out of a possible 200, was Joanne Gaunt's black cocker spaniel, "Trixie."

"Ferna," a German shepherd, owned by Mrs. Van Hoevenberg, placed second, while Miss Billard's 10-month-old Irish setter, "Linnel" won the fourth-place award.

With the exception of Ferna, all dogs were under one-year-old. The next dog obedience class will begin June 10 at 7 p. m. in the YMCA.

The Minority Rules, Too!

Thousands of letters have come our way since we first invited our friends to tell us what they thought of A&P.

It is gratifying to report that the majority of them have been complimentary. And it did our hearts good to receive them. But since we make it our business to try to please all the people all the time, it's the minority group—those who have made suggestions or criticisms—that we're most concerned with.

We assure you, each and every one receives our attention, for we're doing our best to make everybody who shops at A&P happy.

This is one business where the majority and the minority rule. If you have any criticisms or suggestions on how we can better serve you, please tell your friendly A&P manager.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

There are many times when the towns seem less than perfect to me, particularly during the 4:30 rush hour between the two, but at other times, I find a great fondness for them.

And one of the nicest times of all is 6:30 on a sunny spring evening—with the streets bare of cars and people, stretching wide and clean.

And from every open door come smells of supper cooking, and from every back yard sounds of children playing close to home.

Their parents have come home from work and from shopping and changed into their gardening clothes; it's too early for the older boys and girls to be leaving, and it's the one time of day when everybody's home.

Gives you a cozy feeling, hurrying home to your own household, but it must be a lonely time for strangers. Once the movie crowd starts, and the streets fill up again, and families break up to go their separate ways, the spell is broken.

But for that brief hour, the town does seem enchanted—as if you were reliving an earlier age when dogs slept in the deep dust on Main St., and everybody stayed home, and the peonies and roses were just bursting into bloom.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary initiated into membership Mildred K. Schuring, Charlene McCormick and Mary Hartman at their meeting Monday night with all officers present and President Evelyn Tweedie in charge.

Plans were made to take part in the Memorial Day Parade, with all members asked to report at 9 a.m. at East Stroudsburg High School wearing white dresses.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Some weeks ago those of you who listen to the Wyckoff Shopper broadcasts were introduced to a new term — "PB." and were urged to become PB conscious. The letters derive from the words "Plus Business" which, in store jargon, apply to certain items purchased by our New York office because it regards them as outstanding buys certain to be appreciated by Wyckoff customers. Eventually, we believe, you will watch eagle-eyed for these PB's, because you will have found them to be the Prize Buys that we most sincerely believe them. Wyckoff's procures these items in conjunction with 400 other department stores throughout the country, this mass consumption enabling us to buy inexpensively, and to offer the merchandise to you at prices less than you will expect to pay anywhere for comparable quality.

Many of our PB's have been such undeniable bargains, they were snapped up in a twinkling. Wherever possible, we re-ordered. Among these items were suitcases in all sizes, well and trimly constructed and beautifully lined at $6.98; jackets for girls and boys, sizes 6 to 18, of Dan River fast-color, water repellent poplin, unlined and perfect for now, at $3.98; and gubargine toppers, sizes 12 to 18, ideal for day time or evening wear over spring clothes, fully lined and far better looking than the price tag of $6.95 would lead you to assume.

Other PB's are appearing every few days on Wyckoff display cases, and are marked with appropriate PB toppers. If you are unable to find them easily, ask the sales personnel and they will be glad to assist you. In our sportswear department you might inquire about the adorable sleeveless blouses in plain white skimped or gaily striped pique, at $3.98 . . . or the full, bright cotton skirts splashed with butterflies, striped bands, or leaf design at $4.98. Helen Levy will gladly show you her white pique basic blouses for Teen-agers at $1.39, and her honeycomb T shirts for girls at $1.19.

In Edith Pennington's lingerie department, you'll be interested in petal-soft gowns of batiste, daintily colored and eyelet trimmed at $2.98; Dan River house dresses at the same price, and petticoats of fine quality cotton with deep eyelet ruffle unbelievably priced at a mere $1.97.

Another splendid buy is the sun-suit now offered for girls and boys in our children's department at $1.19 in sizes 1 to 6x, of seersucker or broadcloth, both figured and in solid colors. Many of these are made with a "Growaist" to expand with the child. As far as thrift is concerned, here's an equation everyone's bound to understand: the family $5 divided into plus business equals plenty of PRIZE BUYS.

Mountaineers Rally To Clip Palmerton, 8-4

Palmerton — Stroudsburg High school scraped itself off the floor yesterday and staged one of the gamest comebacks in the history of the Lehigh Valley League to take the measure of Palmerton High, 8-4, and tie Catasauqua for first place and force a special playoff today, which will be played on the same field.

The Mountaineers, showing the same courage that had enabled them to make a fight of it all season, came from a 3-0 deficit to score eight times in the last two innings and earn them one of the most important baseball victories in the history of the sport at the W. Main St. school.

Yesterday's contest was a replay of a protested game and all the action began in the bottom of the third inning, with Palmerton holding a one-run lead and having runners on first and third bases, and the batter with a count of one strike and the same number of balls.

The batter, Tom Narati, walked to fill the sacks, but when the next two batters grounded to Floyd Williams and Karl Weingartner respectively, who in turn forced both runners at the plate, it appeared as if Alden "Red" Fetherman and his supporting cast might slam the scoring door in Palmerton's face.

However, a ground ball by George Blynn evaded Fetherman's frantic clutch at the mound. The roller was fielded by Paul "Doc" Lim, but the youthful second sacker's throw evaded Williams at first base and two runners crossed the plate.

Stroudsburg was unable to do anything with Dick Person through the fourth and fifth innings. However, just when hope was sinking low among the very large crowd of Stroudsburg followers, the Mountaineers showed the spark that was later to carry them into a first place tie.

Opens Frame

Williams opened the seventh by lining out to left, where Narati made a sensational catch. However, Weingartner came through with a single and promptly stole second base. Layton DeHaven, enjoying a great day behind the plate, lashed a single to left center to plate Weingartner with the first run of the game for Stroudsburg.

Al Adelman went out on a roller to third, but DeHaven moved to second. Gene Caskie, who entered the game for Benny Miller in the fourth, lashed out a one-py wallop to score DeHaven. That was all for the sixth round, but, although not known to the large crowd in attendance, the big display of power was yet to come.

Fetherman faced only three men in the sixth, one of which he walked, but then picked off the initial sack.

The Mountaineers, hungry for their biggest win of the season, came in for their lick, with Jack Newell opening the frame with a single. Werkheiser allowed Fetherman's shot to go through him at third and Newell pulled up at second, while the Stroudsburg hurler rested on first.

Williams singled to left center and Newell came home, while Fetherman moved to second. Weingartner came through with his second hit in as many innings, this time a perfect bunt down the first base line.

More Runs

Although Weingartner had beaten the play to first, the ball was thrown wildly past the initial sack, allowing Fetherman to cross the plate. DeHaven went down on strikes, but Adelman was hit by a pitched ball and the sacks were loaded once again. Caskie singled two runners home and pulled into second on the play at the plate, while Adelman rested on third.

Linn drove a shot through the Palmerton shortstop and Adelman and Caskie trotted home with insurance markers. Newell fled to left to end the inning.

Fetherman gave up a single to Snyder and a triple to Costenbader in the bottom of the final round, but both came with two out and the final batter fled to Caskie in right to end hostilities.

Pirates Watch Strikeout King In Action

Pittsburgh, (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates put their minor league strikeout king through the paces on the home diamond and got word yesterday from catcher Joe Garagiola that there's just one thing wrong with him.

"He wants to strike out everybody,"

Ronnie Neccial showed up for a physical examination, got a clean bill of health and then went to Forbes Field to display a fine repertoire of stuff during an hour on the mound.

This is the 19-year-old righthander who recently whiffed 27 batters in a no-hitter with Bristol in the Class D Appalachian League. He's moving up to Burlington, N. C., in the Class B Carolina loop where he'll hurl Thursday night.

Neccial—it's pronounced Netch-eye—was a first baseman in high school. The Pirates signed him as such. He did a little pitching on sandlots at nearby Monongahela. An old Cleveland player, George Detore, made a pitcher of him at Salisbury in the North Carolina State League.

Here's Ron's record this year with Bristol: 43 2/3 innings pitched, 109 strikeouts, 10 hits, four runs, 14 walks. He won four straight.

On Forbes Field Ron was all business but in the clubhouse while dressing he made no bones about having that tired feeling.

"All I want is a few good nights' sleep," he said. "I haven't had much rest since the word got around that I was pitching to guys with holes in their bats."

Maglie Captures Ninth Straight

Brooklyn (AP)—Sal Maglie registered his ninth straight victory without a defeat last night as he pitched the New York Giants to a 3-0 four-hit victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Willie Mays, who reports for induction tomorrow, led the Giants to their sixth straight triumph and their second in a row over the Dodgers with a home run and two doubles.

Don Mueller also homered off loser Ben Wade.

Tatamy Uses Two Big Innings To Gain Nod Over East Bangor

East Bangor—Tatamy remained right in the middle of the Blue Mountain League flag race yesterday with a 9-4 decision over East Bangor, here on the losing club's home grounds.

Tatamy used two big frames to turn the tide of battle, scoring four times in the first round and four more in the sixth. The visiting Indians squeezed one run between the two big frames, coming up with one marker in the fifth.

East Bangor remained in the fight up until the sixth round, with two rallies in the opening stanza, and one in the fifth. The home club also came back with a singleton in the bottom of the seventh and final round.

Howard "Howie" Godschalk blasted his second home run of the season, in addition to a double, to pace the winning attack.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Recent meetings of the Blue Mountain League have been long and drawn out, with the major topic of discussion being the possible reinstatement of Harold "Hal" Nerino, former manager of the Roseto club. Nerino was banished from the circuit last season for punching umpire Jim Schlegel during a disputed play at Bangor Park. Nerino and the Roseto club have applied for his reinstatement at least twice in recent months and on both occasions the request has been voted down.

Monday's meeting in Portland's Village Barn was another of those affairs that featured a ballot on Nerino's possible reinstatement. The first ballot on Monday was marked by a 4-4 deadlock in the official count. However, two clubs changed their stand on the second ballot and Nerino's request for reinstatement was turned down for the second time in as many months. Nerino formerly played in the North Atlantic League with the Stroudsburg Poconos and with the Bangor-Berwick franchise.

Schlegel, who assigns umpires for the Blue Mountain Umpires Association, according to information reaching this column was interested in suspending Nerino only for the 1951 campaign. However, the seriousness of striking an official has made its mark on the circuit and the clubs and officials are leary of allowing the hard hitting outfielder to return to the Roseto fold. Hal is considered one of the best hitters and fly chasers in the circuit. Further reports indicate that Roseto was willing to post a $100 bond to guarantee Nerino's good behavior.

Ronnie Kump, former hurler with the Lebanon Chix, when the North Atlantic League was still in operation, is still winning ball games for the Allentown Redbirds, of the class "B" Inter-State League. Kump's latest triumph was a 5-1 win over Lancaster. Jack Daniels, who received his baptism to professional baseball with Nyack, N. Y., when that club was a member of the NAL, is the only North Atlantic League grad in the major leagues at the present time, although three who had previously made the grade are in the Army. Daniels is sticking with the Boston Braves.

Jim Lemon, Cleveland; Carl "Butch" Sawatski, Chicago Cubs; and Danny O'Connell, Pittsburgh, are the three members of the NAL alumni in the service, but who have earned their jobs in the fast company. Harry Schaeffer, New York Yankees, and Alex Garbowsky, Detroit, are the latest NAL graduates to fall in major league bids. The North Atlantic League can thank its lucky stars that it didn't decide to return to an active status this season, or the present wet weather would have stripped the circuit of its shirt.

According to reports and information that this writer has been able to pick up in recent days, the Delaware Valley Speedway will not play host to any stock car races this summer. In fact, the newly constructed half-mile oval near the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg airport will probably be closed during the coming summer months. Last summer the area was supporting three stock car tracks, but at the present time only the West End Speedway is in operation.

IAM pulled a triple play in the Monroe County Softball League yesterday, but fell before Kulp's Foundry, 11-4. It was the first three-put killing of the season in the softball circuit. Billy Mostransky, light hitting, sure fielding shortstop for the Stroudsburg Poconos in 1950, recently tied two Florida State League records when he walked six times and scored six runs in one game for Deland, Fla.

Portland Rallies In Ninth To Sink Pocono A. C.

Extra Base Blows Fatal To Home Club

Portland scored three runs in the top of the ninth inning at Gordon Giffels field yesterday to win over Pocono A. C., 5-2, and stretch its winning streak to five straight games in the Blue Mountain League. The Apollos have as yet to lose their initial league verdict this season.

Manager John Schoonover and George Jackson hooked up in a real pitching duel for the first eight frames, as two overtime innings were required to decide a game that was originally scheduled for seven frames.

However, Portland used doubles by "Bus" Lepine, Jackson and Art Osmun and a single by Frank Sharp to chase three markers across the plate in the ninth which proved more than enough to win. Pocono A. C. had fought back from a two-run deficit earlier in the contest while scoring two times in the bottom of the fourth. Bob Schick, Dick Schaller and Bill Frear lined out successive singles and two Portland errors made the two runs possible.

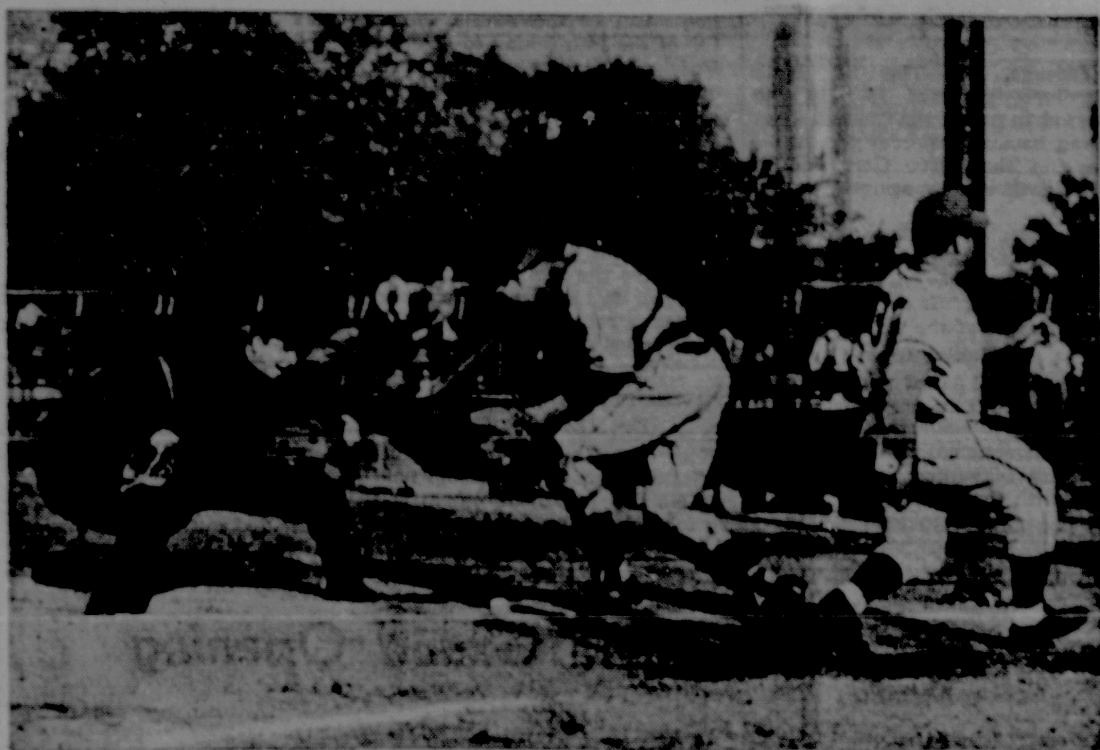

Fielding lapses by the A. C. forces made it possible for Portland to score both of its runs in the second round. A walk to Randall "Bish" Ott, a sacrifice by Harold "Hair" Staples, a single by Reimer and an outfield fly, plus an error by John Drew, enabled the visiting Apollos to get off to a flying start.

Portland touched Schoonover for nine hits, but five of them were confined to the last inning of play. Pocono A. C. was able to get eight off the slants of Jackson.

Pocono A. C. is scheduled to hold an important practice session at Giffels field today, at 6 p.m.

American Favorites Advance In British Amateur Tourney

Prestrick, Scotland (AP)—America's favored triumvirate—Dick Chapman, Billy Maxwell and Frank Stranahan—surged ahead yesterday in their bids for the British Amateur Golf Championship, but Stranahan almost didn't make it.

The young Toledo, O., millionaire, winner of this historic event in 1948 and 1950, teetered on the brink of disaster before he rallied his game from an extra-hole victory over Joe Gent, 53-year-old Briton and probably the most surprised subject in the Kingdom.

Stranahan, two down with two holes to play, finally prevailed on the 21st hole after Gent topped a brassie second shot and spent five blows without reaching the hole.

The huge gallery, which braved blustery winds and rain in anticipation of a major upset, couldn't conceal its disappointment when the middle-aged Englishman crossed the green and conceded the match to a potential par four.

Huge Gallery

Chapman, 41-year-old socialite from Pinehurst, N.C., who is defending titleholder, ran into a tiger in W. C. Gibson, former Scottish champion, but applied pressure where needed to prevail, two and one.

Maxwell, North Texas State collegian from Odessa, Tex., and U.S. amateur king, had less trouble in conquering Scotland's E. W. Fiddian, three and two. It was the second straight victories for both Chapman and Maxwell, who moved into the fourth round—one round ahead of Stranahan.

Crews Check For Flaws At Indianapolis

Indianapolis, (AP)—The question yesterday was whether the fastest qualifying field in Indianapolis Motor Speedway history can keep up the terrific pace in the Memorial Day 500-mile race.

Mechanics took over the 33 cars that qualified before the trials ended Monday and began checking them for any flaws that might have developed. The garages said no serious difficulties had been found.

Slower Pace

Railbirds surmised the race pace would be slower than the average of 135.504 miles an hour made by the field in the 10-mile qualifying runs.

The mark they are shooting at this year is Lee Wallard's record set in the 1951 race. The Altmont, N. Y., driver average 126.244 in winning. He will not be back this year as he is still incapacitated by burns suffered in a crackup at Reading, Pa., four days after he won the 500. Neither will his car for it was wrecked last Saturday.

In addition to checking over the cars the mechanics changed gears. New gears were installed that will give the cars more horsepower at slower engine speeds.

Adcock, Rosen Pace Pack In Respective Slugging Races

New York, (AP)—Adcock, Cincinnati's husky outfielder, and veteran Cleveland third baseman, Al Rosen have compiled the leading slugging figures in the major leagues today.

Adcock, currently sidelined with a knee injury, tops the National League sluggers with a sparkling .667 mark. Rosen paces the American League fence-busters with an impressive .534 percentage.

Slugging averages released by the Associated Press statistical bureau, including Sunday's game, disclose that almost half of Adcock's 33 hits have been for extra bases. In his collection are four doubles, four triples and seven home runs for 66 bases in 99 times at bat.

83 Bases

Rosen has amassed 83 bases in 130 trips to the plate. Included among his 44 hits are five doubles, three triples and 10 home runs.

Hammering "Hank" Sauer of Chicago, is right on Adcock's heels in the National League slugging derby. The Cubs' flycatcher is pounding away at a .603 clip, having garnered 82 bases in 136 times at bat.

Larry Doby, also of the Indians, is runnerup to teammate Rosen in the American League slugging race. Handicapped by a leg ailment early in the season, the southpaw-swinging outfielder has raised his average to .568 with 46 bases in 81 appearances at the plate.

HST Wishes Walcott Luck

Washington, (AP)—President Truman met heavy-weight boxing champion Jersey Joe Walcott again yesterday and wished him good luck in the defense of his championship against Ezzard Charles at Philadelphia on June 5.

Jersey Joe said afterwards that the President "looked wonderful" and added:

"I think he's a great man and I sincerely hope he will run again."

The purpose of Walcott's call was to present the President with an especially engraved ticket to the championship fight.

"If I can't go," Truman told photographers making pictures of the presentation, "I'll auction it off among you boys."

Remains Firm Favorite

London, (AP)—Silnet, the French owned and bred colt, held firm as the 15 to 2 favorite last night to win the 173rd running of the English Derby over the mile and a half undulating Epsom Downs track today.

Bangor High Runs Wild Over Belvidere In Final Contest

Bangor—Bangor High unloaded the lumber in the late innings and crushed Belvidere High under a 10-4 count, in the final game of the season of the Bangor contingent. The game was played here at Memorial Park yesterday.

Hawley Blanks Greene-Dreher Behind Miller

Newfoundland—Greene-Dreher-Sterling High school completed its baseball season on a losing note yesterday, when Hawley High blanked the Stags, 6-0, here on the losing club's home grounds.

Hawley broke the contest wide open in the top of the third round, as the visiting contingent pushed four runs across the plate.

Extra Runs
The visiting nine made certain of victory by scoring singletons in the fourth and fifth stanzas. Greene-Dreher's hit production amounted to one single by Jack Davis, as Al Miller, a southpaw, hurled brilliant ball against the charges of Coach Henry "Hank" Arneberg.

Hawley banged out eight hits off the offerings of Francis Curtis, who worked the entire distance for the losing aggregation.

Chicago, (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals slammed 16 hits, but needed to match the Chicago Cubs' three homers yesterday for an 8-5 decision that gave Gerry Staley his eighth victory against two defeats.

The Bruins touched Staley for only seven hits, but they included two homers by Bill Serena and league-leading "Hank" Sauer's 16th circuit clout of the season.

Winning Blows
Stan Musial poked his fifth homer of the season in the fourth with none aboard, while two more Card homers were smashed in the eighth by Enos Slaughter and Hal Rice, each with the bases clear.

Pittsburgh, (AP)—Cincinnati infielder Ed Pellagrini hit his first home run of the season in the top of the 14th inning to give the Reds a 5-4 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday at Forbes Field.

Injury
Frank Smith, a side-arming righthander, replaced "Bubba" Church in the seventh inning for the Reds, held the Pirates scoreless the rest of the way and got credit for the win. The loss was charged to Forest Main, who started a relief stint in the 10th and yielded only the run to Pellagrini.

Serious Study Needed When Buying Trees

Selecting shade trees to beautify the home and afford protection is a matter requiring the serious consideration of every home owner, because of the many factors that enter into the decision. Each kind of tree and each possible location for a tree should receive attention.

The size and architecture of the home; the architecture, length and height of nearby homes or buildings; and the kind and size of trees in adjoining yards have a bearing on the proper selection of shade trees to obtain the correct landscape settings and neighborhood harmony in appearance.

Different kinds of trees require different soils for best growth; they vary in their demand for sunlight; they differ in moisture requirements, so that annual precipitation is important; and some will be killed in winter in freezing climates.

Consider Many Factors

The kind, size, and location of shade trees also must be considered with reference to small ornamental trees, shrubs, hedges, flower beds, grass, driveways, walks, garage, clotheslines, pools, gardens, portions of the house, such as entrances, windows, gutters, basement walls, and exterior tiling. The kind, size, and proximity of street trees also must be taken into consideration, especially when such trees are under the jurisdiction of the city, and the home owner cannot change them.

When possible, consult a landscape architect or, if you desire to do your own planting, either have a nurseryman inspect your premises and make recommendations or show him photographs of your home and yard, together with sketches drawn to scale of your yard, indicating details of present landscaping and describe location of nearby buildings, kinds of trees, and other information in these points.

Families Smaller

While the population of the United States increased about 14 1/2 per cent between 1940 and 1950, the number of non-farm households increased 32 per cent, from 27,748,000 to 36,626,000.

Scrape Metal Surfaces Clean

Repainting iron railings, foot scrapers, steel window casements and other architectural hardware is not difficult. All old, loose, scaly paint should first be scraped or wire-brushed. The surface should then be coated with red lead, zinc yellow, blue lead, oxide of iron or zinc dust-zinc oxide. After this has been allowed to dry thoroughly for a week or 10 days, it should be covered with two coats of house paint or exterior enamel.

Personality Is Important In Planning Home

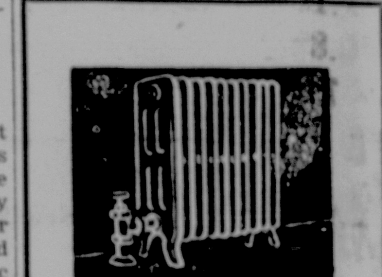

Just as a woman chooses her clothes to harmonize with her skin tones, hair color, and personality, so should she choose the colors for her most constant background—her home, according to color experts.

Even more important than the effect upon guests in her home is the psychological effect of well planned colors upon the homemaker herself, says the director of a paint company's color research department.

In planning this spring's painting, a woman should consider the implications the color has for her personality. If she is a blonde and uses red in its more dramatic vivid tones, home furnishings must carry out the theme of drama, and she must have the personality to carry off drama well.

A brunette, with tailored tastes in clothing, should consider deep blue tones. She should also select the blues with added green. A brunette who wants a taste of the dramatic might try a gold background that sets off her dark coloring.

Greens are invariably good for redheads. The redhead who wants a color that will constantly frame her should look into lighter tones.

High School to COLLEGES

Working for a small industrial firm, this accountant sets up, maintains and controls financial records.

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series of articles on career opportunities for high school and college students in important vocational fields. They are based on a prospectus prepared by Penn College, Cleveland, and were prepared in cooperation with business, industry and the professions.)

ACCOUNTING

Taxes, profits, audit, journal... confusing terms to the layman, but old friends to the trained accountant. He is the umpire in the game of business; and his ability to weigh, analyze and adjust is becoming more and more important to businessmen faced with inflation, rising costs, high taxes, unequalled technological expansion and increasing governmental restrictions and red tape.

What Is Accounting?

Accounting is the art of preparing, maintaining, examining and controlling financial records. It is an exacting profession, calling for a high degree of training and skill. Despite a common confusion of terms, the modern accountant should not be confused with the bookkeeper, a worker who records transactions and follows the plan or system laid out by the accountant.

Three Major Branches

There are many types of accounting work, but the field can be broken down generally into three branches: public, industrial and governmental.

The public accountant is a professional man who installs accounting systems, makes audits, prepares tax returns, helps to finance or reorganize business enterprises. He needs considerable training and experience, must pass rigid state exams and would find useful a marked social proficiency.

The industrial accountant is usually employed by business or industrial firms to record or supervise financial operations, and to provide management with vital information.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to fool and amuse you. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

FOR WEDNESDAY, MAY 28, 1952

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Have confidence in your intuition, especially regarding items that can be done without it. It will stand you well later. A watchful waiting policy will win now.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Encouraging indications in many ways. Included in the favored. Business, business undertakings, employees and employers affairs, private matters. Recognition for soundness.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—An unusual attitude void of personal whims will win you great credit. Give more than you receive in kindness; it will repay both in lasting and at home.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Same extra exertion and same caution where needed will bridge you over rough spots (if any) today. Benefit influences on high level for earnest efforts. Heart interests prime.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Generous vibrations. Be alert, especially in regular business, money matters. Honest dispensation of justice will bring true satisfaction. You can afford to wait in some things.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—The will to succeed and not being too fast in applying your method—is the road to success now. Civic and home matters need constant kindly consideration.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Five rays for bustling, hasty problems, making contracts, sound deals, investments for long pull. Be interested in those close to you; don't permit distractions to interfere.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—Suggest you guide activities quite carefully. Possible losses could be avoided. Neither forcing nor letting alone pace will do. Irritability can hurt chances.

November 24 to December 23 (Sagittarius)—Be quick, irregularities. Don't let what could be well run routine go awry. This means extra effort, keen judgment, noting reactions carefully.

December 24 to January 23 (Capricorn)—Extra generous period for skilled work, creativeness; issues urgent and commendable to community, home, personal affairs. Business, professional matters prominent.

January 24 to February 23 (Aquarius)—Familiar undertakings (all things you can rightly handle with assurance) are favored for new success. Home importance will take time, so get your scale cleared early.

February 24 to March 23 (Pisces)—To put up with harts, setbacks could not always mean submission. It is often the smart, diplomatic way; means better insight and results in long run.

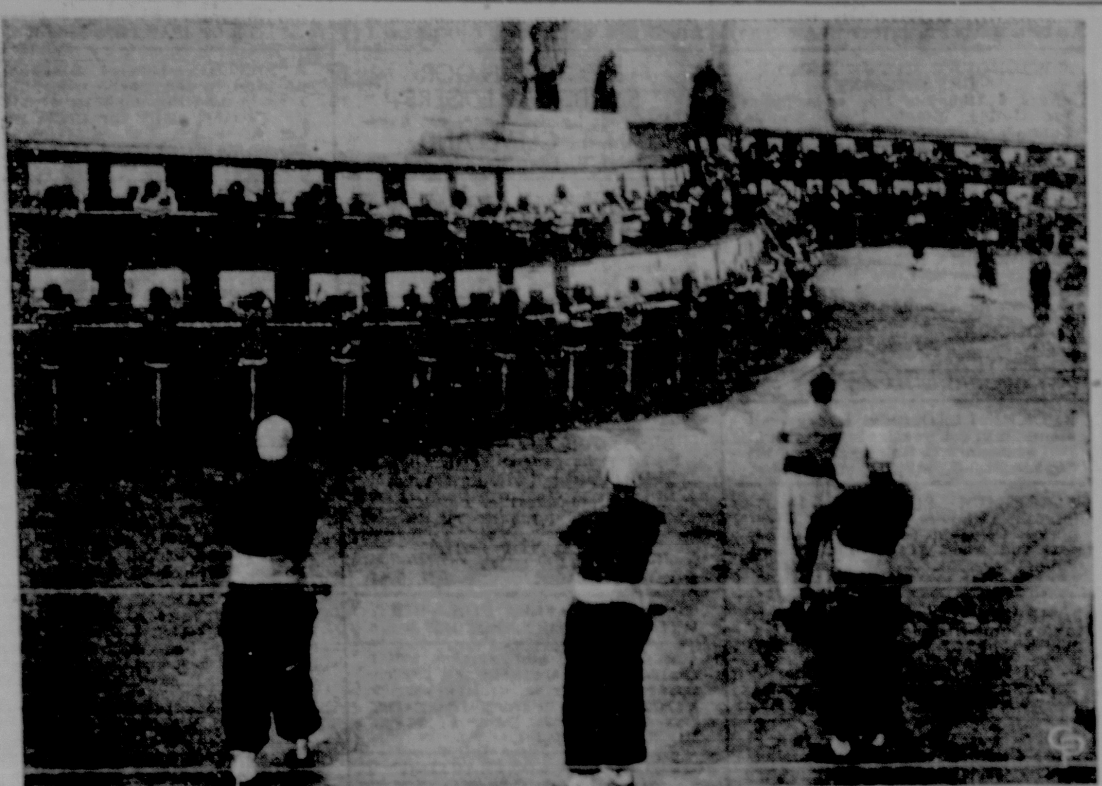

YOU BORN TODAY: Are versatile, have keen appreciation of needs of people. Develop your many talents. Aim high. Defend principles. Your quick mind and reflexes require proper care for sound action. Mind associates, getting into wrong habits and beliefs. Music, art, the outdoors are tonic for your nerves. Birthdate of: Wm. Pitt, famous Eng. statesman; Thomas Moore, Irish poet; Jean a Rudolphe Agassiz, noted naturalist.

A ghastly daymare for any little boys—150 moppets practicing their piano lessons "simultaneously" under frightful frowns of that musical monster, Dr. Terwilliker, and his phalanx of armed guards.

Horrors Hollywood Dreams Up Reflect Hades For Little Boys

By Armand Archard
(Central Press Correspondent)

Hollywood—Any of you who rebelled against practicing piano in your youth will love The 5,000 Fingers of Dr. T. If, however, you are now in the throes of convincing Junior he should master the 88, I suggest you direct his attentions away from this movie.

The piano teachers of America will, no doubt, send up fortissimo yells when they get a glimpse of this film.

I've visited some strange sets in Hollywood, but the main stage for this epic tops them all. Two connecting stages were needed to house the main prop, the largest piano ever built.

A double-tiered keyboard winds S-like over 100 yards from bass to treble. It required two carloads of lumber and goodness knows how many discarded elephant tusks. There are 13,200 piano keys. And seats for 150 boys.

The 5,000 fingers are supposed to belong to 500 youngsters. However, no stage in Hollywood could handle that order. The 150 serve the purpose. Believe me, 1,500 young fingers are noisy enough.

"Dr. T." is Dr. Terwilliker (Hans Conried), a merciless piano teacher whose ambition is to conduct 500 little boys imprisoned at his giant keyboard.

This is, of course, a horrible dream, a daymare which 9-year-old actor Tommy Rettig envisions while seated at his standard home piano one bright spring day. The birds are singing, the butterflies are butterfly and the other kids are yelling, "C'mon out and play baseball!" Ah, yes, I recall the scene well.

This maniacal little plot was conjured up by one Ted Geisel. You know him better as "Dr. Seuss," creator of the famous "Quick, Henry!" cartoons.

Geisel, strangely enough, once hoped to be a college English professor, but turned to cartooning while waiting for campus ivy to ensnarl him. Lest the erudite gentlemen of the Phi Beta Kappa clan discover the aspiring educator to be a cartoonist, he chose "Dr. Seuss" as his pen and ink name.

Although the colleges were slow to respond, College Humor, Judge and Vanity Fair were quick buyers of his new career.

It was while doing a cartoon for Judge that another facet in his career was born. The particular cartoon in question pictured a knight in bed, being muzzled by a gigantic dragon. The caption read, "What! Another dragon? And just after I sprayed the joint with (here he named an insecticide)." Next day the manufacturers of the insecticide called and he signed to do a series in advertising their product. He kept the job 15 years.

Since that time he has produced Army films, movie cartoons, including last year's Academy

Award-winning Gerald McBoing-Boing, authored and illustrated top-selling children's books. Some
